The Honorable George Bush
Director
Central Intelligence Agency

Dear Mr. Bush:

STATINTL
Thank you for nominating [REDACTED] for the STATINTL Financial Management Improvement Award sponsored by the Joint Financial Management Improvement Program. The JFMIP congratulates [REDACTED] in his nomination and for his achievements in financial management.

STATINTL
[REDACTED] was not selected to receive the Financial Management Improvement Award this year, but I am sure that he will continue his outstanding contributions to the financial management community.

I am enclosing a brochure on the February 7 conference. I hope a number of Central Intelligence Agency employees will be able to attend.

Sincerely yours,

Donald C. Kull

SIXTH ANNUAL FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT CONFERENCE

FEBRUARY 7, 1977.

THE STATLER HILTON HOTEL
WASHINGTON, D.C.

This conference is sponsored by the Joint Financial Management Improvement Program (JFMIP), a joint undertaking of the Office of Management and Budget, the Department of the Treasury, the General Accounting Office, and the Civil Service Commission working in cooperation with each other and with the operating agencies. The objective of JFMIP is to improve and coordinate financial management policies throughout the Government to achieve effective and efficient planning and operation of government programs.

Rarely have there been so many simultaneous major developments affecting financial managers. These include:

- Transition to a new national administration.
- Growing demands on budgets at all levels of government.
- Major fiscal problems in cities.
- Serious public concern about the high cost of government and the accountability of government officials.
- Recent major changes in the congressional budget process.
- Proposals for sunset laws and zero-base budgeting.
- Continuing advances in automatic data processing and communications technology.

--Major new efforts in financial reporting.

--Increased emphasis on productivity.

--Growing interest in meaningful evaluation of government programs.
